

A LEADER IN ENVIRONMENTAL SUSTAINABILITY

WELCOME TO THE BENTLY RESERVE

“At Bently Enterprises we value the ‘three P’s’ of sustainability—people, planet, and profit equally, and strive to maintain a balance of all three.”

Located in San Francisco’s bustling Financial District, the stunning beaux-arts Bently Reserve is setting a new standard in green practices and sustainable style for special event and meeting venues. The Bently Reserve was purchased in 2005 by avid environmentalist Christopher Bently. He immediately committed his resources to renovating the building, meticulously converting it to the first event and conference center in California to receive silver certification in the National Leadership in Energy and Environmental Green Building Design Rating System for Core and Shell Development (LEED Silver CS).

Possessing a strong desire to move the future of real estate in a more environmentally conscientious direction, Christopher abides by strict green practices in all of his businesses. “Buildings have an immediate impact on the quality of people’s lives and the health of the planet, and it is our responsibility to protect the environment with sustainable building design, construction, and operation,” said Christopher Bently.

Over the course of a two-year period, numerous sustainable upgrades were made to maximize energy efficiency, minimize waste, and provide a healthy environment for clients. The Bently Reserve now features low VOC (Volatile Organic Compounds) paint, sustainable wood flooring, an extensive recycling program, a daylight harvesting system, a revised HVAC system that emits nearly zero harmful emissions and runs on considerably less energy, energy efficient lighting, and bicycle racks to encourage green transport around the city. Non-toxic janitorial supplies and renewable building supplies are always used, and have succeeded in drastically reducing power consumption. Clients are offered a list of preferred green caterers handpicked by the Bently Reserve team.
